

CORPS CACHÉS

This approach involves a meditation on the concealed image, a solicitation of the imagination and of curiosity. This set of photos of two bodies nested together allows viewers to walk away with their own sense and interpretation of the pictures. Images within the frame interact with those outside of it. This set of compositions permits a small portion of the image to be seen, suggesting that viewers might take a more active look. This photo series was created for the SMALL IS BEAUTIFUL show as a part of a joint research effort between Isabelle Choinière, choreographer and Jean-François Gratton, photographer.

